

Still need help or have questions?

There is an online tutorial on our library wiki at

<http://www.wikibc.ldsbc.edu/wiki>

Look under the business section.

If you still need even further assistance,
the library staff would be happy to help you.

Karen Hales
Library Director
524-8149
khales@ldsbc.edu

AnnaLaura Brown 524-8150
abrown@ldsbc.edu

Lexis Nexis Academic and Business Databases

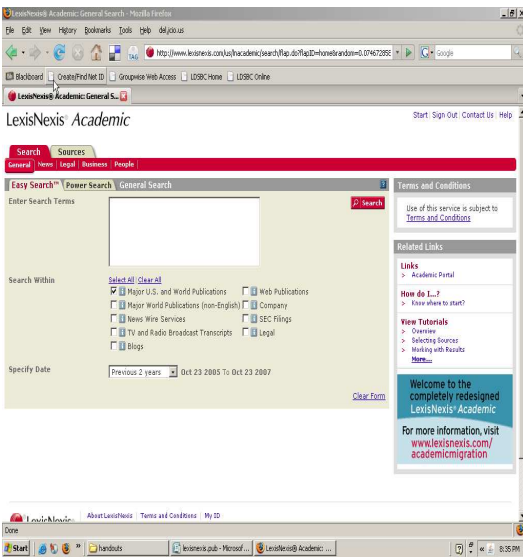

Lexis Nexis Business

This database contains all kinds of information on articles on every aspect of business.

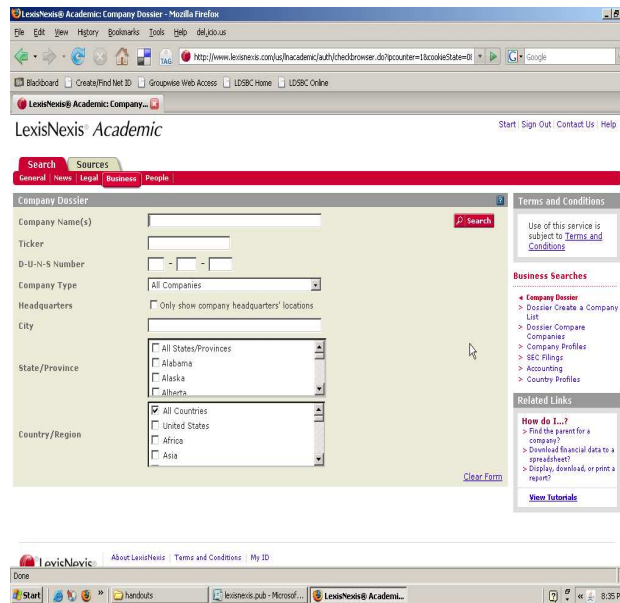

You can search for articles in all kinds of sources or you can pull of information at a glance about a certain company.

This is the general search screen.

From here you can enter in search terms, select the resources you would like to search and choose the date range you would like to search within.

Another option is the business search, shown above. Here you can search for specific information on a company by name, ticker symbol, company type, or location.

This pulls up information about the company, their recent stock history if they are a public company, recent news articles about them, their current financial status, and more.

This is the screen for the power search. This gives you more searching options including the option of using boolean connectors in your search.

There is also the option of searching and browsing according to a specific publication. This screen shows the publication categories from which you can choose.

You can also sort your results even further by country.

